Overview

The Bujang Valley is located in Southern Kedah and extends across the coastal plain around Gunung Jerai (Mount Jerai) at an altitude of 1,300 meters. The valley is drained by the Sungai Merbok (Merbok River) and Sungai Muda (Muda River) and their tributaries, particularly the Sungai Bujang (Bujang River) and Sungai Batu (Batu River). Gunung Jerai is a prominent landmark and serves as the entrance marker to the Straits of Malacca for sailors crossing the Bay of Bengal. In addition to being a landmark, the mountain is rich in minerals and was considered a sacred to powerful gods at the time.

The Bujang Valley civilization is thought to have emerged as early as the end of the 4th century and was primarily a fusion of Hinduism and Buddhism. It is a bustling trading centre and was the capital of the ancient kingdom of Kedah, which had strong trade links with India and other parts of Southeast Asia. Excavations in Bujang Valley have uncovered a wealth of artifacts including sculptures, pottery, inscriptions, and jewelry. These discoveries provide valuable insight into the history, culture, and trade networks of the ancient civilizations that once flourished in this region.

Conversely, Penang is a state that designated as World Heritage Site in 2008 by UNESCO for its outstanding cultural value and its well-preserved historic urban landscapes. To maintain its UNESCO World Heritage Site, Penang has implemented various conservation efforts. These include preserving and restoring historic buildings, promoting cultural heritage tourism, and encouraging the maintenance of traditional trades and practices. Thus far, Penang is increasingly focusing on sustainable tourism practices, which align with the responsible and ethical aspects of archaeotourism. This includes efforts to protect historical sites and reduce the environmental impact of tourism. To complement its archaeotourism activities, Penang is also renowned for its diverse and delicious culinary offerings, often considered some of the best in Malaysia. The island's food scene reflects its multicultural heritage, with influences from Malay, Chinese, Indian, and other communities.

Preface

Dato' Dr. Ammar Abd. Ghapar
Director General,
Tourism Malaysia

Greetings from Tourism Malaysia!

Welcome to the enchanting world of archaeotourism, geotourism, and heritage in Malaysia, a land of breathtaking landscape, vibrant culture, and a rich tapestry of historical treasures waiting to be discovered.

With its lush rainforests, pristine beaches, and modern cities, Malaysia has long been a destination for travellers seeking diverse experiences. Yet, beyond its contemporary allure lies a hidden treasure trove of archaeological and historical wonders that have remained relatively uncovered by the mainstream tourist trails.

Archaeotourism, geotourism, and heritage exploration in Kedah and Penang are more than a journey. It is an opportunity to bridge the past and the present, to understand the forces that have shaped these regions, and to appreciate the importance of preserving their historical gems for generations to come. It is a journey that invites you to be a historian, an explorer, and a custodian of these cultural legacies.

It is a journey that invites you to be a historian, an explorer, and a custodian of these cultural legacies.

As you embark on this archaeological odyssey, we hope you will enjoy Malaysia's enchanting treasures and fascinating stories of the past. Let the charm of these magical wonders bewitch you!

Kedah has its own long history. There are many historical relics of the past found the Merbok River such as ancient monumental ruins, buildings, temples, ports and all locked up and buried in the ground for two millennia.

According to the Hikayat Merong Mahawangsa, Kedah was founded by Merong Mahawangsa. According to further text, the Sultanate of Kedah began in 1136 when Raja Phra Ong Mahawangsa embraced Islam and used the name Sultan Mudzafar Shah. In the 7th and 8th centuries, Kedah was under the loose control of Srivijaya, then under Siam, until it was captured by the Malacca Malay sultanate in the 15th century. In the 17th century, Kedah was attacked by the Portuguese after the conquest of Malacca, and with Aceh. Siam however captured Kedah in 1811, and it remained under Siamese control until it was transferred to the British by the Anglo-Siamese Treaty of 1909. Kedah became part of the Federation of Malaya in 1948.

30 September 2024

1 Day

Explore the historical heart of George Town on a colorful three-wheeled trishaw, an authentic three-wheeled taxi, the ultimate way to see this UNESCO World Heritage Site. Beginning at Fort Cornwallis, the largest standing fort in Malaysia, you will embark on a scenic ride through its narrow streets. Appreciate the beauty of the Jubilee Clock Tower, built to commemorate Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, before riding over to the waterfront jetty. Continue to the colorful area of Little India, close your eyes and drift away as you smell the aromas of fragrant spices and hear the unmistakable sounds of India filling the air. Watch as the architecture unfolds as you head over to the city's financial heart, before passing by one of Malaysia's National Treasures, St George's Church, a breath-takingly beautiful 19th-century Anglican church opposite the imposing court buildings.

As you traverse the streets, you will see many boutique hotels, restaurants and cafes, Malay heritage building and Chinese Temples. Conclude your exciting ride at the Blue Mansion, the most photographed building in George Town.
